

ABSTRACT

An oil well capsule to reduce the paraffin and asphaltene which accumulate on the walls of the pipes which are used to bring the oil up from underground deposits, and a method of using said oil well capsule. An oil well capsule having a shell 5 encapsulating a chemically active mass wherein said chemically active mass consists essentially of alkaline or alkaline earth metal.